Tiffany Polloni - Heritage Kitchen

Tiffany Polloni is a self-taught Caymanian artist whose primary medium is watercolour. Having grown up surrounded by the Caribbean Sea, the fluidity and beauty of watercolour is a natural outlet for Tiffany.

Her works of art also embody all things Caymanian: the picturesque, tranquil scenery of the three islands and its unique people, flora and fauna. Under the pseudonym "Ethel & Charlie", Tiffany pays homage to her maternal grandparents, Ethel Vinola and Charlie Ebanks, as well as her Cayman Brac roots and heritage.

Inspiration for this year's painting:

As Grand Cayman continues to grow and cater to the modern population, it becomes more and more important to support and cherish gems like the Heritage Kitchen. Nothing speaks more of our Caymanian way of life than enjoying the aromas of the selection of local dishes being prepared, while looking out at the vivid blues of the Caribbean Sea and the listening to the hiss and pop of the waves licking the sandy beach.
